UX/UI and Product Designer with 2 years of hands-on visual and e-commerce design experience, combining strong visual craft with end-to-end product thinking. Completed an intensive UX/UI & Product Design program and designed two mobile products from problem definition through testing, high-fidelity UI and working coded prototypes.

SELECTED PROJECTS

DeciBuy — Product Design, independent concept | 2026

- Designed and prototyped a phone app that answers before a purchase — Buy, Wait for payday or Not now — from the price, spare money and payday; iPhone-first, 6 languages, light and dark themes.
- Ran desk research and a competitor scan; used AI-simulated interviews and surveys to form hypotheses, kept clearly separate from real evidence.
- Tested through a recorded iPhone walk-through, informal feedback from 2 people and 20 AI-driven test runs; shipped fixes such as verdicts based on money left until payday and per-item currencies.

Leeway — UX/Product Design Capstone, John Bryce | 2026

- Designed an end-to-end 12-screen mobile experience for pre-booking airport security-check time slots, covering user research, personas, journey mapping, information architecture, UX flows, high-fidelity UI and prototyping.
- Observed 7 participants using the prototype and turned findings into a 3-step onboarding, inline validation, 4-language support and removal of a passport-format restriction affecting non-Israeli users.
- Built a working HTML/CSS/JS prototype and published it live on GitHub Pages.
